

Villages as Key Partners for Healthy Aging Research

Multi-Region VIRTUAL SUMMIT

Villages are designed to help people age in their communities with greater social connection and better mental and physical health.

Yet research on how Villages promote healthy aging is in its early stages. How can we evaluate the impact of Villages? What kind of data and partnerships do we need?

These are questions we will explore at the Virtual Summits.

Insights will make a difference for next steps on using research as a tool to strengthen the Village Movement.
